

Citation A Daughter Tops Northeast Classic Sale

For the fourth time, the New England Jersey Breeders hosted the Northeast Jersey Classic and Breeders Sale as a combination of a small group of special-pedigreed tie-up animals and then a large commercial group of individuals. The sale was held for the second consecutive year at Dusty Creek Farm, owned by Gerald and Diane Colvin of Wallingford, Vt.

At day's end, 273 lots of Registered Jerseys were struck off for an average of $1,404.76 and a gross of $385,500. Thirty-six buyers from 10 states coast-to-coast made purchases.

Diane and Jerry Colvin hosted the Northeast Jersey Classic and Breeders Sale for the second consecutive year. AJCA-NAJ Area Representative Brenda Snow, left, took a moment to thank the couple for the use of their dairy for the large volume sale.
